Honors and Awards

April 2007 – Present

Michael Addis (Psychology) appeared in a national Geographic Channel documentary, “Fight Club: No Limits,” which aired in January, 2008. In it he comments on a group called “Dog Brothers,” a kind of real world “Fight Club,” the topic of a 1999 movie.

Michael Addis was elected president of the Society for the Psychological Study of Men and Masculinity, a division of the American Psychological Association.

Jeffrey Jensen Arnett (Psychology) received the Lawrence W. Green Paper of the Year award for his paper titled, “The Myth of Peer Influence in Adolescent Smoking Initiation,” presented November, 2007 in Washington, D.C.

Michael Bamberg (Psychology) was chosen as Outstanding Academic Advisor for the 2006-07 academic year.

Adria Bernardi (English) was awarded the 2008 Raiziss/de Palchi Traveling Fellowship of the Academy of American Poets, awarded to a U.S. citizen for the translation of modern Italian poetry into English. Bernardi will reside in Rome and complete translation of work by the Italian poet Rafello Baldini.

Patrick Derr (Philosophy) was awarded the 2007 University Senior Faculty Fellowship, presented to an outstanding senior faculty member who personifies the Clark ideal of excellence in teaching and excellence in research, scholarship, or creative work.

Corey Dolgon's (Sociology) new book, The End of the Hamptons: Scenes from the Class Struggle in America's Paradise, published by NYU Press, won the American Sociological Association's Marxist Section book award for 2007.

Gino DiIorio's (V&PA) play, Are You the Wife of Michael Cleary?, premiered at the Irish Arts Center in New York City on January 15, 2008. The play was produced by the Stagemad Theatre Company of Waterford, Ireland.

Cynthia Enloe (Government emerita and IDCE, research professor) was selected as this year's recipient of the Susan S. Northcutt Award, established in 2003 by the Women's Caucus for International Studies (WCIS) to honor the Caucus' founder, Susan S. Northcutt. The award recognizes a person who actively works toward recruiting and advancing women and other minorities in the profession, whose spirit is inclusive, generous and conscientious and who has made significant contributions through service and competence in the profession of international studies and to the International Studies Association.

Patricia Ewick (Sociology) was awarded the Seymour N. Logan Faculty Fellowship for 2007-09 for her proposed new upper level seminar course and symposium, both titled "Punishment, Politics and Culture."

Rachel Falmagne (Psychology) was re-elected President of the International Society for Theoretical Psychology for a second term.

Susan Foster (Biology) was elected to the Presidential office for the Animal Behavior Society. She will serve as President Elect until summer 2009, as President for one year, then Past President for an additional year.

Abbie Goldberg (Psychology) and James Murphy (Geography) were awarded Edward Hodgkins Junior Faculty Fellowships for personifying the Clark ideal of excellence in research and in teaching.

Abbie Goldberg received the Outstanding Paper Award in 2007 from the National Council on Family Relations for her paper, "Lesbian mothers' ideas and intentions about male involvement across the transition to parenthood," which appeared in the Journal of Marriage and Family.

Harvey Gould (Physics) and his collaborators received the 2007 Undergraduate Computational Engineering and Sciences award from the Krell Institute, honoring innovation, educational impact and breadth in the development and implementation of educational materials for CES.

Liza Grandia's (IDCE) expert affidavits (on behalf of the Maya peoples of the Toledo district of Belize, who were pressing a case to defend their customary land rights) were quoted extensively by the Chief Justice of the Belize Supreme Court. This is an historic victory that sets precedence for indigenous people in other Commonwealth countries with similar claims.

Susan Hanson (Geography) became Chair, Section 64, of the National Academy of Sciences, in 2007.

Scott Hendricks (Philosophy) was selected to receive the Outstanding Teacher Award by the graduating class of 2007.

Lene Arnett Jensen (Psychology) was appointed to serve on the board of directors of Children's Friend for a three-year term. Children's Friend was established in 1849 as a charity caring for orphaned, abandoned and neglected children in Worcester.

Lisa Kasmer (English) was awarded a visiting fellowship at Chawton House Library in Hampshire, England during Spring 2008 to complete research on her book project, "Novel Histories, British Women Writing History, 1760-1840."

Matthew Malsky (V&PA) again received the ASCAPlus Award from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, in recognition of a number of commissioned works and other activities.

John McGinn (V&PA) premiered a new solo piano work, Without a Net, in a series of concerts with Andrew List and Margaret McAllister at Boston College and Old South Church in Boston, as well as at Clark University.

John McGinn served as music director and pianist for The Shakespeare Concerts in its second appearance at Boston's Jordan Hall in March.

Sarah Michael's (Education) new book, Ready, Set, Science!: Putting Research to Work in K-8 Science Classrooms, is a finalist for the Educational Publisher's Association's Distinguished Achievement Award.

Mark Miller (Government) was named the Thomas Jefferson Distinguished Chair, Fulbright Scholar to the American Studies and History Programs at Leiden University, the Netherlands, for spring 2008.

John Rainey (Small Business Development Center) was named Massachusetts Star Performer for 2007 by the Association of Small Business Development Centers. The award was presented in Denver in September, 2007.

Dianne Rocheleau (Geography) contributed a chapter to an edited volume that won the Lourdes Arizpe Award in Environmental Anthropology in 2007, given by the American Anthropological Association. The book is Brosius, et al. 2005. Communities and Conservation: Histories and Politics of Community Based Natural Resource Management. Altamira Press.

John Rogan (Geography) was awarded the 2007 Oliver and Dorothy Hayden Junior Faculty Fellowship, presented to an outstanding junior faculty member who personifies the Clark ideal of excellence in teaching and excellence in research, scholarship, or creative work.

John Rogan won the 2008 Best Paper Award for Early Career Scholars in Remote Sensing from the Association of American Geographers Remote Sensing Specialty Group.

Laurie Ross (IDCE) received the second annual William Meinhofer Award for Faculty Excellence on March 11 from the Worcester UniverCity Partnership at a ceremony held here at Clark. Ross shares the 2008 award with WPI's Robert Krueger. The award is given to a college or university faculty member who enables students to engage in the kind of community-based work that was important to the award's namesake, William Meinhofer, who served as director of the Donelan Office of Community-based Learning at the College of the Holy Cross.

Robert Ross (Sociology) was nominated to be secretary-treasurer of the American Sociological Association's section on Labor and Labor Movements. The election is to be held in April, 2008.

Kate Shepard (Education) was presented the American Stars of Teaching Award for the state of Massachusetts in October, 2007. Sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education, this award recognizes and honors superior teachers who raise student achievement, use innovative classroom strategies and make a difference in their students' lives.

Inshik Seol (Graduate School of Management) received a Fulbright U.S. Scholar Award for 2008-09. He will lecture at the Sogang University in Seoul, Korea beginning in summer 2008, on comparative accounting practices between Korean and U.S. systems.

Bill Turner (Geography) was selected as Fellow, Massachusetts Academy of Sciences, 2007 (inaugural class).
